before our readers:

Newport, August 2, 1852.
F. P. Whipple, Eng.,

We are happy to learn that you are passing a few days in this place; and as many individuals visiting Newport from different' sections visiting Newport from different sections of our country earnessly desire again to listen to your Lestures which they have heard with so much pleasure, we venture to ask you to favor us and the public with the delivery of the two Lectures, upon the American and English Mind.

We are air.

We are, sir, with much respect, Very truly yours, acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 2d inst. It is hardly necessary for me to say that the Lectures to which you have referred, those on the Ameri can and English Mind, are at your see can and Engine mana, are at your vice, on any erection for their delivery. Although it was not my purpose to lacture in Newport, I feel that I could not decline an invitation so friendly and so flattering as yours, with out doing injustice to my sense of the kindness and courtesy which prompted

i am, grailemen, with respect very truly yours, E. P. WHIPPLE Hon. S. G. Annold,

In accordance with the above, the gentlemen who invited Mr. Whipple give notice that the first lecture will be delivered at the Ocean House Hall to merrow, Saturday, evening, at 8 o'clock; and the second on Manday evening, at the same hour and reputation which Mr. Whippie enjoys as being the first Re viewer and Critis in America, and ranking with the English celebrities, Jeffrey and Macaulay, will, we are confident ensure large audiences for these Lec tures; they have been prepared with great care, and exhibit the wonderfu unnitatio power and compass of Mr. Whipple's mind. It will be a rare in tellectual treat; and we advice all, citizens and visitors, to attend, as many from different parts of the country, may not have an opportunity to hear Mr. Whipple again very soon.

The eminent Pinnist, Alfred Jaell, arrived in town yesterday morning and took rooms at the Ocean House. I is not certain yet whether or not Mr. Jaell will give a Concert here,-we trust, however, that he may be induced MARRIAGE IN HIGH LIPS AT SARATOGA -St. Peter's Church, at Saratoga Springe, presented a magnificent appearance on last Thursday morning, to witness the marriage ceremony of Manafield T. Walmorth to Miss Ellen Hardin The bride is said to be a beautiful and accomplished lady, and was the daughter of the brave and gallant Col. Hardin, who fell in Mexico. The fashion and beauty of Saratoga was present to witness the imposing scene. A great party was given in the evening at the house of Chancellor Wallworth, in honor of the event.

Tax line of Steamers between Portland and Liverpool, we are told is : fixed fact. The steamers will leave Liverpool for Quebec in the summer. and for Portland in the winter, Portland paying a bonce of $12,000 per annum for the privilege of being the port of arrival and departure. The Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad Co. pay the beauty expecting to be remunerated by the travel and mails. The capital to build the stoumers has been provided for in England and Canada.

The Editor of the Newport Daily Nors is second that we had no thought, in our article of July 24, of ac thought, in our service of any 2, of the cucing him of juniously or enty at the prosperity of Sarchoga. We have long been aware of the difference between the season here and at Newport, and it the season nerview of the leason for the outrageous stucks of the New York Herald that we published what we

We hope the editor of the New will we nope me entor of the recess will ten be able to realize his anticipations of a visit to Saratega, as we should be very happy to welcome him to our beau-tiful town. If he will come within the next two weeks we can assure him of a mext two weens we can never a min or a rich 'night from our window' overlook-ing the troot of the U. S. Hotel. We should hope for his own sake though that he is a staid and sober married man, for it he is not, the "sight" of pretty girls to be seen from there would spoil him for visiting with a plain matter apoil him for varying and a fact man as we are.

In regard to the visit to Newport, we accent the very present may conclude to accept the very pressing invitation extended to us by the editor of the News, and if so it would give us great pleasure to make his acquantance.—Saratoga Whig.

Many thanks to the editor of the Whig. We should feel no danger in visiting Saratoga, although we are a staid old bacheller, growing bald and some-what grey. The fluttering of pretty girls cannot disturb us now, if it ever did, in our younger days.

Turbot.-- Most of our readers will remember that a year ago, it was very confidently asserted, and as confidently, denied, that Capt. Mackinnon of the British Navy, had taken Turbot off the coast near Newport. The Captain, whom everybody liked, and who was known to more Americans than most foreigners who visit us, has returned to England and been lecturing before the Literary Institution at Lymington. From one of his recent lectures, which R. R. HAZARD we find reported in the Hampshire Independent, we copy the following, which will he read with interest, and we hope lead to the supply of our market with this new variety of fish,-Eds. Cour. of  $L_{H0}$

"The gallant captain then read a paper which he had prepared, to prove that the original discoverer of America was not Columbus, and stated many interesting facts in connection with this subject, and said that when he first landed he went to the fish markets, and found that there were no Turbot, soler, or fiat-fish. Indeed, they had very few of the fish which we have. He made every enquiry, and at length discovered that there was no such thing as a trawl net in the whole of the United States, and at this he was very much surprised, knowing how few fish were taken with the line in this country. He mentioned the matter to several, and they sent to the Meiers, Inman, the celebrated yacht builders, of Lymington, for a trawi not; but they could not from unforcescen strong unstances, used widen it wrived. He then borround one, which had been in a store-bouse ten years, and it was precious rotten. He took it to Newport, in Rhode Island, and determined to use it, and put it down to the great chagrin of all the fishermen. He had with him several of the most intelligent inhabitants, who were atruck with his earnesthess, and the very first day he went out he caught 2 cwt, of fish. The net, was only 12 feet, long, and very rotten; but, not withstanding, in three days, he caught 17 varieties of fish, and amongst them several turbot. They had as fine turbot there as we lind, but did not catch them, because they only need the hook; and when he brought the fish in the fishermen said it was all very fine, but it was a very mean way of catching fish (laughter). Generally speaking, the Americans were very liberal in their opinions, but this was certainly not a specimen of it. Since his return he had investigated the subject, and he was convinced that the turbot they had there was decidedly differ ent from ours, but they were the same fish as ours, as far as caling was concerned : and he was as convinced as that he stood there that, if a company was formed to go and trawl on the shores of the United States, they would make a fortune ; for, with a miserable net such ne he had described, he had caught more Sah in a given time than he had ever done with the finest nets in this coun-
